

Dr. Fred A. Wagshul

M.D.

Founding member of the FLCCC Alliance

Education

College	1967–1971 Ohio State University , Columbus, OH, B.S./Biological Science 1974–1976 Brooklyn College , Brooklyn, NY, M.A./Secondary Education 1976–1980 Universidad Central del Este , San Pedro de Macoris Repulica Dominicana, M.D.
Postgraduate Training	1981–1984 Internship and Residency Internal Medicine, Perth Amboy Hospital, New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry , Perth Amboy, NJ
Fellowship	1984–1986 Pulmonary Medicine, Norwalk Hospital, Yale University School of Medicine , Norwalk, CT
Awards	1967–1971 Scholastic Award – Ohio State University
Specialized Training	Proficient in all aspects of invasive and non-invasive pulmonary care medicine including fiberoptic bronchoscopy, wang needle aspiration, endotracheal intubation, pulmonary function testing, exercise testing, sleep laboratory evaluation, consultations, ventilator management, Swan-Ganz catheterization, arterial line placement, temporary pacemakers, pleural biopsy, chest tube placement, transthoracic needle aspiration, and strong computerized critical care background including mass spectrometry analysis and servo ventilators.

Licensing

Board Certification

American Board of Internal Medicine – Board Eligible
Pulmonary Medicine
Critical Care Medicine

Licensure

1986–Present	Ohio
1984–1986	New York
1984–1986	New Jersey
1984–1986	Connecticut

Experience

Current Position

1993–Present Lung Center of America

Hospital Appointments

1986 Kettering Medical Center
1986 Sycamore Hospital
1996 Middletown Regional Hospital

Professional Associations

1990 Alpha Omega Alpha
1981 Associate, American College of Chest Physicians
1984 Associate, American College of Chest Physicians
1985 American Medical Association
1986 Ohio State Medical Association
1986 Montgomery County Medical Society
1996 Ohio Thoracic Society

Medical Honor Society
Wright State University – School of Medicine
Teaching attending Internal Medicine program at Kettering Medical Center
Critical Care Management / Pulmonary – Teaching attending IM residency program at KMC

Academic Appointments

1987–2014 Former co-director of Critical Care Services at Kettering Medical Center
1987–2014 Former director of transtracheal oxygen program at Kettering Medical Center
1987–present Clinical Instructor – Wright State University School of Medicine
2020–present Founding member of the Frontline Covid-19 Critical Care Alliance (FLCCC)