

Ivermectin helped my mom and my husband

My mom and husband got covid one week apart. My mom got it first and a week later my husband got it. I already had it in January and was fine, but my mom is 66 and my husband is 49, so both of them are inching towards the vulnerable category.

My mom did not get the full protocol in time and unfortunately developed low O2 and a high d-dimer, so she was hospitalized and still is. Not vented, but on supplemental O2 and Lovenox currently.

My husband on the other hand, got ivermectin and other prescriptions (steroids, cyproheptadine, z-pak, Singulair, etc) along with the OTC supplements of the FLCCC protocol and did totally fine. His symptoms were a mild cough, mild fatigue, and a mild headache. His O2 never dropped past 96%. He worked from home the entire time and never missed a beat.
