

FLCCC mourns the loss of Dr. Vladimir Zelenko, fierce advocate for early COVID treatment

The entire team at FLCCC is saddened to hear of the loss of a great friend and fellow supporter of early treatment for COVID-19. We extend our deepest condolences and sympathies to the Zelenko family and pray they find the strength to see them through this difficult time.

“Dr. Zelenko stepped up and fought for access to early treatment when few others did,” said Dr. Pierre Kory, President and Chief Medical Officer of FLCCC. “He had a huge impact, and his loss will be felt by many.”

Participants at the 2nd World Congress of the World Council for Health and Doctors for Life in Brazil, where Dr. Kory is a headliner speaker, paused for a moment of prayer and reflection on hearing the news of Dr. Zelenko’s passing.

Having developed the Zelenko Protocol, in spite of fierce pressure and powerful detractors, Dr. Zelenko set about ensuring that no one need live in fear of COVID. He advocated strongly that COVID is preventable and treatable and generously shared information to help people around the world recover their health.

He will be sorely missed.
