

FLCCC International Fellowship Program Overview

The FLCCC's Fellowship Program is an expansive initiative that seeks to both unify and magnify the powerful voices and scholarship of physicians, scientists and other leading health providers and researchers on the global stage.

The FLCCC's senior fellows are among a larger group of leading professionals who have taken highly public positions to defend the humanitarian values and medical integrity that are at the core of the Honest Medicine movement. They continue to demonstrate courage, integrity, and scientific rigor in the face of censorship, threats of license revocation and even termination of employment in order to effect much needed change.

By uniting the FLCCC's powerful platform and resources with our senior fellows' unimpeachable credentials and forceful voices, together, we will significantly impact worldwide conversations about medical freedom, ethics, integrity, rigorous science and essential policy changes legislatively, both domestically and abroad. This is core to FLCCC's mission to restore the sacred doctor-patient relationship.

Many FLCCC senior fellows will also continue to make scholarly contributions to their academic specialties on an ongoing basis. Some senior fellows are currently involved in critical medical and scientific research studies. Others are monitoring disease trends and developing treatment guides for numerous conditions of human health. Many of the FLCCC senior fellows will be engaged in international educational workshops for providers and patients, and submit position papers of international medical significance.

Significantly, the FLCCC will support our senior fellows' travel and hotel costs in order to accelerate their ability to engage in broader advocacy work on every continent. Donors will now be able to sponsor such support for FLCCC senior fellows through tax deductible donations. Until now, most of these courageous professionals have been standing alone, with little or no financial backing for travel that is essential to the movement. This program will unify and amplify many of the most powerful voices in order to drive crucial policy changes for the next generation.

Many FLCCC senior fellows will be participating in educational conferences, advocacy events, media appearances and political hearings on topics central to the Honest Medicine movement's mission. Their advocacy and scholarly work will be disseminated through the FLCCC and partner channels worldwide, and in multiple languages. By unifying these brave professionals under the FLCCC fellowship program, we can achieve efficiency by having a "local presence" globally to propel high-impact coordination and execution.
